COAAA Professional Education September 10, 2021

9:00AM - 12:15PM

Boundaries, Self Care, and Ethics

Professional self-care is paramount for competent and ethical social work and counselor practice. Professional demands, challenging workplace climates, and exposure to trauma warrant that professionals maintain personal and professional health, safety, and integrity. Organizations, agencies, and educational institutions are encouraged to promote organizational policies, practices, and materials to support social workers' and counselor self-care. This workshop will address this topic and provide participants with knowledge and information to guide them in understanding their ethical responsibility to maintain strong professional boundaries and self-care.

Speaker

DeAnna Henderson PhD is a licensed professional counselor in the state of Ohio, is a certified rehabilitation counselor and holds an online teaching certificate from Alabama State University. She is currently a faculty member at Walden University College of Social Behavioral Sciences in the School of Counseling. She received her doctor of philosophy degree from Ohio University, her Masters degree from Ohio State University

Objectives

At the conclusion of this workshop, participants will be able to:

- Define and differentiate boundaries and professional boundaries
- Recognize the importance of maintaining professional boundaries
- Define self-care
- Identify the relevant ethical standards related to the practice of good self-care
- Discuss how boundaries are a form of self-care
