The Ethics and Culture of Victimology

What is Victimology? It is the study of victims of crime and the psychological effects on them of their experience. This workshop is designed to highlight some of the current ethical issues in victimology. The program will address gender divide in victims, types of crimes committed, and how this impacts legal cases. Using case studies the presenter will provide information on Victim Impact Statements (VIS) and how gender differences impact the criminal justice system, as well as crime victims.

Speaker

Dr. Sara Dettinger Martino received her Ph.D. in Counseling Psychology from Temple University (2005), M.A. in Counseling from Boston College, and B.A. in Psychology from West Chester University. She is currently a Professor and the Director of the MA program in Counseling at Stockton University. She is also a Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC) and Nationally Certified Counselor (NCC), working mainly with young women with eating disorders and self-harm behaviors. She wrote a book on her therapeutic techniques with young women who self-mutilate entitled Scars: Creative approaches for understanding and coping with self-mutilation, in 2010. Her more recent research focuses on the Superwoman Ideal and gender inequities in employment and managing work/life balance as well as social media influence on self-harm behaviors. She also specializes in sexual assault victims and in the "yes means yes" initiative.
